

PARTIES

1. Plaintiff Robert Finne is a resident citizen of Drasco, Arkansas. He has been enrolled in an individual AR-BCBS health insurance policy since at least 2009.

2. Defendant BCBSA is a corporation organized under the state of Illinois and headquartered in Chicago, Illinois. It is owned and controlled by thirty-eight (38) health insurance plans that operate under the Blue Cross and Blue Shield trademarks and trade names. BCBSA was created by these plans and operates as a licensor for these plans. Health insurance plans operating under the Blue Cross and Blue Shield trademarks and trade names provide health insurance coverage for approximately 100 million – or one in three – Americans. A BCBS licensee is the largest health insurer, as measured by number of subscribers, in forty-four (44) states.

3. The principal headquarters for BCBSA is located at 225 North Michigan Avenue, Chicago, IL 60601.

4. BCBSA has contacts with the State of Arkansas by virtue of its agreements and contacts with AR-BCBS. In particular, BCBSA has entered into a series of license agreements with AR-BCBS that control the geographic areas in which AR-BCBS can operate. These agreements are a subject of this Complaint.

5. Defendant AR-BCBS is the health insurance plan operating under the Blue Cross and Blue Shield trademarks and trade names in Arkansas. Like other Blue Cross and Blue Shield plans nationwide, AR-BCBS is the largest health insurer, as measured by number of subscribers, within its service area, which is defined as the state of Arkansas.

6. The principal headquarters for AR-BCBS is located at 601 S. Gaines Street, Little Rock, Arkansas 72201. Based on information and belief, AR-BCBS does business in each county in the state of Arkansas.

INTRODUCTION

7. This is a class action complaint brought on behalf of subscribers of AR-BCBS to enjoin an ongoing conspiracy in violation of the Sherman Act between AR-BCBS and the thirty-eight other BCBSA member health plans. Through their BCBSA and otherwise, AR-BCBS and the thirty-eight other members of the BCBSA have engaged, among other things, in an ongoing conspiracy to restrain trade, establish and maintain monopoly power, prevent competition and carve up geographic markets in violation of the Sherman Act. This action seeks to enjoin that ongoing conspiracy to allow free and open competition in the Arkansas market for small group and individual health insurance, and to recover treble damages for AR-BCBS's inflated health insurance premiums throughout the Class Period described below.

8. In addition, this action also seeks to recover damages in the form of inflated premiums that AR-BCBS has charged as a result of this illegal conspiracy, and as a result of anticompetitive conduct it has taken in its illegal efforts to establish and maintain monopoly power throughout Arkansas.

9. AR-BCBS is by far the largest health insurance company operating in Arkansas and currently exercises market power in the commercial health insurance market throughout Arkansas.

10. An overwhelming percentage of the Arkansas residents who subscribe to full-service commercial health insurance (whether through group plans or through individual policies) are subscribers of AR-BCBS – vastly more than are subscribers of the next largest commercial insurer operating in Arkansas. Two recent studies concluded that Arkansas has one of the least competitive health insurance markets in the country.

11. The dominant market share enjoyed by AR-BCBS is the direct result of an illegal conspiracy in which thirty-eight of the nation's largest health insurance companies have agreed that they will not compete with AR-BCBS in Arkansas, and that AR-BCBS will have the exclusive right to do business in Arkansas so long as it limits its competition with any of its thirty-eight co-conspirators in each of their assigned geographic areas. These market allocation agreements are implemented through Blue Cross and Blue Shield license agreements executed between BCBSA, a licensing vehicle that is owned and controlled by all of the Blue Cross and Blue Shield plans, and each individual Blue Cross and Blue Shield licensee, including AR-BCBS. Through the terms of these per se illegal license agreements, the independent Blue Cross and Blue Shield entities throughout the country, including AR-BCBS, have explicitly agreed not to compete with one another, in direct violation of Section 1 of the Sherman Act. By so agreeing, they have attempted to entrench and perpetuate the dominant market position that each Blue Cross and Blue Shield entity has historically enjoyed in its specifically defined geographic market.

12. This illegal conspiracy to divide markets and to eliminate competition extends beyond the use of the Blue Cross and Blue Shield brand names. Many of the Blue Cross and Blue Shield affiliates have developed substantial non-Blue brands that could compete in Arkansas. However, the illegal conspiracy includes a per se illegal agreement that the Blue Cross and Blue Shield licensees will not compete with one another through the use of their non-Blue brands, beyond a relatively de minimis extent. But for the illegal agreements not to compete with one another, these entities could and would use their non-Blue brands to compete with AR-BCBS throughout Arkansas, which would result in greater competition and lower premiums for subscribers.

13. The Defendants' illegal conspiracy has perpetuated AR-BCBS's monopoly power in Arkansas, which has resulted in skyrocketing premiums for Arkansas AR-BCBS enrollees for over a decade. AR-BCBS has perpetuated its monopoly by using its market power to quash the competition. The lack of competition AR-BCBS faces because of its monopoly power and anticompetitive behavior, has led to higher costs, resulting in higher premiums charged to AR-BCBS customers. As a result of these inflated premiums, the average employer-sponsored health insurance premium for families in Arkansas and the premiums paid by individual policyholders increased by an amount greater than what could be expected absent the illegal conspiracy and anti-competitive actions of Defendants.

14. As the dominant player in all of Arkansas's health insurance markets, AR-BCBS has led the way in causing premiums to be increased each year. These inflated premiums would not be possible if the market for health insurance in Arkansas were truly competitive. Full and fair competition is the only answer to artificially inflated prices, and competition is not possible so long as AR-BCBS and BCBSA are permitted to enter into agreements that have the actual and intended effect of restricting the ability of thirty-eight of the nation's largest health insurance companies from competing in Arkansas.

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

15. This Court has federal question jurisdiction pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 1331 and 1338(a) because Plaintiff brings his claims under Sections 4 and 16 of the Clayton Act, 15 U.S.C. §§ 15 and 26, to recover treble damages and costs of suit, including reasonable attorneys' fees, against BCBSA and AR-BCBS for the injuries sustained by Plaintiff and the Class by reason of the violations, as hereinafter alleged, of Sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act, 15 U.S.C. §§ 1 and 2.

16. Venue is proper in this district pursuant to Sections 4, 12 and 16 of the Clayton Act, 15 U.S.C. §§ 15, 22, and 26, and 28 U.S.C. § 1391 and as a result of the Judicial Panel on Multidistrict Litigation ("JPML") transfer of similar, related actions to this court as a part of MDL 2406, In Re Blue Cross and Blue Shield Antitrust Litigation.

TRADE AND COMMERCE

17. AR-BCBS and the 38 other health plans that own and control BCBSA are engaged in interstate commerce and in activities substantially affecting interstate commerce, and the conduct alleged herein substantially affects interstate commerce. BCBSA enters into agreements with health insurance companies throughout the country that specify the geographic areas in which those companies can compete. AR-BCBS provides commercial health insurance that covers Arkansas residents when they travel across state lines, purchases health care in interstate commerce when Arkansas residents require health care out of state, and receives payments from employers outside of Arkansas on behalf of Arkansas residents.

CLASS ACTION ALLEGATIONS

18. Plaintiff brings this action on behalf of himself and on behalf of a class of Plaintiffs. Plaintiff brings this action seeking damages on behalf of a class pursuant to the provisions of Rule 23(a) and Rule 23(b)(1) and (b)(3) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, with such class (the “Arkansas Class”) defined as:

All persons or entities who, from 2009 to the present (the “Class Period”) have paid health insurance premiums to AR-BCBS for individual or small group full-service commercial health insurance.

19. The Class is so numerous and geographically dispersed that joinder of all members is impracticable. While Plaintiff does not know the number and identity of all members of the Class, Plaintiff believes that there are thousands of Class members, the exact number and identities of which can be obtained from AR-BCBS.

20. There are questions of law or fact common to the Class, including but not limited to:

- a. Whether the restrictions set forth in the BCBSA license agreements are per se violations of Section 1 of the Sherman Act, or are otherwise prohibited under Section 1 of the Sherman Act;
- b. Whether, and the extent to which, premiums charged by AR-BCBS to class members have been artificially inflated as a result of the illegal restrictions in the BCBSA license agreements;
- c. Whether, and the extent to which, premiums charged by AR-BCBS have been artificially inflated as a result of the anticompetitive practices adopted by AR-BCBS.

21. The questions of law or fact common to the members of the Class predominate over any questions affecting only individual members, including legal and factual issues relating to liability and damages.

22. Plaintiffs are members of the Arkansas Class; their claims are typical of the claims of the members of the Class; and Plaintiff will fairly and adequately protect the interests of the members of the Class. Plaintiff and the Arkansas Class are direct purchasers of individual or small group full-service commercial health insurance from AR-BCBS, and their interests are coincident with and not antagonistic to other members of the Class. In addition, Plaintiffs have retained and are represented by counsel who are competent and experienced in the prosecution of antitrust and class action litigation.

23. The prosecution of separate actions by individual members of the Class would create a risk of inconsistent and varying adjudications, establishing incompatible standards of conduct for BCBSA and AR-BCBS.

24. A class action is superior to other available methods for the fair and efficient adjudication of this controversy. The Class is readily definable and is one for which AR-BCBS has records. Prosecution as a class action will eliminate the possibility of repetitious litigation. Treatment of this case as a class action will permit a large number of similarly situated persons to adjudicate their common claims in a single forum simultaneously, efficiently, and without the duplication of effort and expense that numerous individual actions would engender. Class treatment will also permit the adjudication of relatively small claims by many class members who otherwise could not afford to litigate an antitrust claim such as is asserted in this Complaint. This class action does not present any difficulties of management that would preclude its maintenance as a class action.

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

General Background and Summary of Allegations

25. AR-BCBS enjoys unrivaled market dominance within Arkansas. As of June 2009, AR-BCBS market share in Arkansas was 75%. AR-BCBS is the largest medical care provider in the state of Arkansas and is licensed to provide healthcare plans in all 75 counties. AR-BCBS enrolled a majority of the subscribers of full-service commercial health insurance plans, whether offered through a health maintenance organization (“HMO”) or through a preferred provider organization (“PPO”) plan in the state of Arkansas.

26. AR-BCBS’s market dominance in Arkansas is the result of a conspiracy between AR-BCBS and the thirty-eight other insurance companies that license the Blue Cross and/or Blue Shield brands to unlawfully divide and allocate the geographic markets for health insurance coverage in the United States. That conspiracy is implemented through the Blue Cross and Blue Shield license agreements that each licensee has entered into with Defendant BCBSA. As detailed herein, the member health insurance plans of BCBSA, including AR-BCBS, have entered into a series of licensing arrangements that have insulated AR-BCBS and the other health insurance plans operating under the Blue Cross and/or Blue Shield trademarks from competition in each of their respective service areas.

27. This series of agreements has enabled AR-BCBS to acquire and maintain a grossly disproportionate market share for health insurance products in Arkansas, where AR-BCBS enjoys market and monopoly power.

28. AR-BCBS has used its market and monopoly power in Arkansas to engage in a number of anticompetitive practices. For example, AR-BCBS uses its market and monopoly power and its reimbursement policy, including a refusal to directly reimburse non-contracting providers, to threaten providers into contracting with AR-BCBS at below-market rates. Faced with this prospect, providers capitulate to AR-BCBS's demands.

29. Because the BCBSA licensing agreements exclude rival health insurance plans from the market, AR-BCBS faces little pressure to constrain its own costs. With few other health insurance plan options to compete with, AR-BCBS can raise premiums (and thereby recoup its costs) without any concern that its subscribers may switch to a rival insurance plan. The few consumers who subscribe to rival insurance plans face higher premiums as well, as these plans pass on to their subscribers the high cost of competing against AR-BCBS.

30. Defendants' anticompetitive practices, by reducing the choices available to health insurance consumers and increasing the cost of health care in Arkansas, have raised the premiums that Arkansas residents must pay to obtain health insurance. AR-BCBS's rival health insurance plans are excluded from the market, and the few rival plans that have broken into the Arkansas market must pay significantly higher rates to health care providers.

31. The skyrocketing cost of AR-BCBS health insurance coverage in Arkansas tells the story of AR-BCBS's abuse of its market and monopoly power at the expense of health care plan consumers in Arkansas.

History of the Blue Cross and Blue Shield Plans and of BCBSA

32. The history of the Blue Cross and Blue Shield plans demonstrates that the plans arose independently, that they jointly conceived of the Blue Cross and Blue Shield marks in a coordinated effort to create a national brand that each would operate within its local area, and that they quickly developed into local monopolies in the growing market for health care coverage. While originally structured as non-profit organizations, since the 1980s these local Blue plans have increasingly operated as for-profit entities: either by formally converting to for-profit status, or by generating substantial surpluses that have been used to fund multi-million dollar salaries and bonuses for their administrators.

33. The history of BCBSA demonstrates that it was created by the local Blue plans and is entirely controlled by those plans. Moreover, the history of BCBSA demonstrates that the origin of the geographic restrictions in its trademark licenses was an effort to avoid competition between the various Blue plans, and to ensure that each Blue plan would retain a dominant position within its local service area.

Development of the Blue Cross Plans

34. In 1934, an administrator named E.A. von Steenwyck helped develop a prepaid hospital plan in St. Paul, Minnesota. In his effort to help sell the plan, he commissioned a poster that showed a nurse wearing a uniform containing a blue Geneva cross, and used the symbol and the name “Blue Cross” to identify the plan. This is believed to be the first use of the Blue Cross symbol and name as a brand symbol for a health care plan. Within the year, other prepaid hospital plans began independently using the Blue Cross symbol.

35. In 1938, Blue Cross plan executives met in Chicago. At that meeting, American Hospital Association (“AHA”) officials announced that prepaid hospital plans meeting certain standards of approval would receive institutional membership in the AHA. In 1938, the Committee on Hospital Service adopted a set of principles to guide its “approval” of prepaid hospital plans. One such principle was that the plans would not compete with each other. When the approval program went into effect, there were already 38 independently formed prepaid hospital plans with a total of 1,365,000 members.

36. In 1939, the Blue Cross mark was adopted as the official emblem of those prepaid hospital plans that received the approval of the AHA.

37. In 1941, the Committee on Hospital Service, which had changed its name to the Hospital Service Plan Committee, introduced a new standard: that approval would be denied to any plan operating in another plan's service area. Contrary to the principles that plans would not compete and that plans would not operate in each other's service areas, the independently formed prepaid hospital plans, now operating under the Blue Cross name, engaged in fierce competition with each other and often entered each other's' territories. The authors of The Blues: A History of the Blue Cross and Blue Shield System, which BCBSA sponsored and its officers reviewed prior to publication, describe the heated competition between the various Blue Cross plans at that time:

The most bitter fights were between intrastate rivals Bickering over nonexistent boundaries was perpetual between Pittsburgh and Philadelphia, for example. . . . John Morgan, who directed a Plan in Youngstown, Ohio, for nearly twenty-five years before going on to lead the Blue Cross Plan in Cincinnati, recalled: "In Ohio, New York, and West Virginia, we were knee deep in Plans." At one time or another, there were Plans in Akron, Canton, Columbus, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Lima, Portsmouth, Toledo, and Youngstown By then there were also eight Plans in New York and four in West Virginia. . . . Various reciprocity agreements between the Plans were proposed, but they generally broke down because the Commission did not have the power to enforce them.

38. For many years, Cross-on-Cross competition continued, as described in Odin Anderson's Blue Cross Since 1929: Accountability and the Public Trust, which was funded by the Blue Cross Association, one predecessor to BCBSA. Anderson points to Illinois and North Carolina, where "[t]he rivalry [between a Chapel Hill plan and a Durham plan] was fierce," as particular examples, and explains that though “Blue Cross plans were not supposed to overlap service territories,” such competition was “tolerated by the national Blue Cross agency for lack of power to insist on change.”

39. By 1975, the Blue Cross plans had a total enrollment of 84 million.

Development of the Blue Shield Plans

40. The development of what became the Blue Shield plans followed, and imitated, the development of the Blue Cross plans. These plans were designed to provide a mechanism for covering the cost of physician care; just as the Blue Cross plans had provided a mechanism for covering the cost of hospital care. Similarly, the Blue Cross hospital plans were developed in conjunction with the AHA (which represents hospitals), while the Blue Shield medical society plans were developed in conjunction with the American Medical Association (“AMA”) (which represents physicians).

41. Like the Blue Cross symbol, the Blue Shield symbol was developed by a local medical society plan, and then proliferated as other plans adopted it.

42. In 1946, the AMA formed the Associated Medical Care Plans (“AMCP”), a national body intended to coordinate and “approve” the independent Blue Shield plans. When the AMCP proposed that the Blue Shield symbol be used to signify that a Blue Shield plan was “approved,” the AMA responded, “It is inconceivable to us that any group of state medical society Plans should band together to exclude other state medical society programs by patenting a term, name, symbol, or product.” In 1960, the AMCP changed its name to the National Association of Blue Shield Plans, which in 1976 changed its name to the Blue Shield Association.

43. By 1975, the Blue Shield plans had a total enrollment of 73 million.

Creation of the Blue Cross and Blue Shield Association

44. Historically, the Blue Cross plans and the Blue Shield plans were fierce competitors. During the early decades of their existence, there were no restrictions on the ability of a Blue Cross plan to compete with or offer coverage in an area already covered by a Blue Shield plan. Cross-on-Cross and Shield-on-Shield competition also flourished.

45. However, by the late 1940s, the Blue plans faced growing competition not just from each other, but also from commercial insurance companies that had recognized the success of the Blue plans and were now entering the market. Between 1940 and 1946, the number of hospitalization policies held by commercial insurance companies rose from 3.7 million to 14.3 million policies. While the Blues remained dominant in most markets, this growth of competition was a threat. In particular, unlike the Blue plans, these commercial insurance companies were able to offer uniform nationwide contracts, which were attractive to large employers or unions with members located in different cities and states.

46. From 1947-1948, the Blue Cross Commission and the AMCP attempted to develop a national agency for all Blue plans, to be called the Blue Cross and Blue Shield Health Service, Inc., but the proposal failed. One reason given for its failure was the AMA's fear that a restraint of trade action might result from such cooperation.

47. Even when the Plans were putatively cooperating, as they appeared to be in the 1950s while competing with commercial insurers for the opportunity to provide insurance to federal government employees, they were at war. As the former marketing chief of the National Association of Blue Shield Plans admitted, "Blue Cross was separate; Blue Shield was separate. Two boards; two sets of managements. Rivalries, animosities, some days . . . pure, unadulterated hatred of each other."

48. To address competition from commercial insurers and competition from other Blue plans, and to ensure "national cooperation" among the different Blue entities, the plans agreed to centralize the ownership of their trademarks and trade names. In prior litigation, BCBSA has asserted that the local plans transferred their rights in the Blue Cross and Blue Shield names and marks to the precursors of BCBSA because the local plans, which were otherwise actual or potential competitors, "recognized the necessity of national cooperation."

49. Thus, in 1954, the Blue Cross plans transferred their rights in each of their respective Blue Cross trade names and trademarks to the AHA. In 1972, the AHA assigned its rights in these marks to the Blue Cross Association.

50. Likewise, in 1952, the Blue Shield plans agreed to transfer their ownership rights in their respective Blue Shield trade names and trademarks to the National Association of Blue Shield Plans, which was renamed the Blue Shield Association in 1976.

51. During the 1970s, local Blue Cross and Blue Shield plans all over the U.S. began merging. By 1975, the executive committees of the Blue Cross Association and the National Association of Blue Shield Plans were meeting four times a year. In 1978, the Blue Cross Association and the National Association of Blue Shield Plans (now called the Blue Shield Association) consolidated their staffs, although they retained separate boards of directors.

52. In 1982, the Blue Cross Association and the Blue Shield Association merged to form BCBSA. At that time, BCBSA became the sole owner of the various Blue Cross and Blue Shield trademarks and trade names that had previously been owned by the local plans.

53. In November 1982, after heated debate, BCBSA's member plans agreed to two propositions: that by the end of 1984, all existing Blue Cross plans and Blue Shield plans should consolidate at a local level to form Blue Cross and Blue Shield plans; and that by the end of 1985, all Blue plans within a state should further consolidate, ensuring that each state would have only one Blue plan. As a result of these goals, the number of member plans went from 110 in 1984, to 75 in 1989, to 38 today. However, the goals did not end competition between Blue plans. In the early 1980s, for example, Blue Cross of Northeastern New York and Blue Shield of Northeastern New York competed head-to-head.

54. During the 1980s and afterwards, the plans began to operate less like charitable entities and more like for-profit corporations, accumulating substantial surpluses. In 1986, Congress revoked the Blues' tax-exempt status, freeing them to form for-profit subsidiaries.

55. In 1992, BCBSA ceased requiring Blue Cross and Blue Shield licensees to be not-for-profit entities. As a result, many member plans converted to for-profit status. One such plan, now called WellPoint, has grown to become the largest health insurance company in the country, at least by some measures. Others attempted to convert to for-profit status but failed. However, while nominally still characterized as not-for-profit, AR-BCBS and other non-profit Blue plans generate substantial earnings and surpluses, and pay their senior administrators and officials substantial salaries and bonuses – often in the multi-million dollar range.

56. From 1981 to 1986, the Blue plans lost market share at a rate of approximately one percent per year. At the same time, the amount of competition among Blue plans, and from non-Blue subsidiaries of Blue plans, increased substantially. As a result of this increased competition, in April of 1987, the member plans of BCBSA held an “Assembly of Plans” -- a series of meetings held for the purpose of determining how they would and would not compete against each other. During these meetings, these independent health insurers and competitors agreed to maintain exclusive service areas when operating under the Blue brand, thereby eliminating “Blue on Blue” competition. However, the Assembly of Plans left open the possibility of competition from non-Blue subsidiaries of Blue plans – an increasing “problem” that had caused complaints from many Blue plans.

57. Throughout the 1990s, the number of non-Blue subsidiaries of Blue plans increased, and they continued to compete with Blue plans. As a result, the member plans of BCBSA discussed ways to rein in such non-Blue branded competition.

58. At some later date, the Blue Cross and Blue Shield plans together agreed to restrict the territories in which they would operate under any brand, Blue or non-Blue, as well as the ability of non-members of BCBSA to control or acquire the member plans. These illegal restraints are discussed below.

Allegations Demonstrating Control of BCBSA By Member Plans

59. BCBSA calls itself “a national federation of 38 independent, community-based and locally operated Blue Cross and Blue Shield companies” and “the trade association for the Blue Cross Blue Shield companies.”

60. BCBSA is entirely controlled by its member plans, all of whom are independent health insurance companies that license the Blue Cross and/or Blue Shield trademarks and trade names, and that, but for any agreements to the contrary, could and would compete with one another. On its website, BCBSA admits that in its “unique structure,” “the Blue Cross and Blue Shield companies are [its] customers, [its] Member Licensees and [its] governing Board.”

61. As at least one federal court has recognized, BCBSA “is owned and controlled by the member plans” to such an extent that “by majority vote, the plans could dissolve the Association and return ownership of the Blue Cross and Blue Shield names and marks to the individual plans.” Central Benefits Mut. Ins. Co. v. Blue Cross and Blue Shield Ass’n, 711 F. Supp. 1423, 1424-25 (S.D. Ohio 1989).

62. The Blue Cross and Blue Shield licensees control the Board of Directors of BCBSA. In a pleading it filed during litigation in the Northern District of Illinois, BCBSA admitted that its Board of Directors consists of “the chief executive officer from each of its Member Plans and BCBSA’s own chief executive officer.” The current chairman of the Board of Directors, Daniel J.

Loepp, is also the current President and CEO of Blue Cross Blue Shield of Michigan.

License Agreements and Restraints on Competition

63. The independent Blue Cross and Blue Shield licensees also control BCBSA's Plan Performance and Financial Standards Committee (the "PPFSC"), a standing committee of the BCBSA Board of Directors that is composed of nine member Plan CEOs and three independent members.

64. The independent Blue Cross and Blue Shield licensees control the entry of new members into BCBSA. In a brief it filed during litigation in the Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals, BCBSA admitted that "[t]o be eligible for licensure, [an] applicant . . . must receive a majority vote of [BCBSA's] Board" and that BCBSA "seeks to ensure that a license to use the Blue Marks will not fall into the hands of a stranger the Association has not approved."

65. The independent Blue Cross and Blue Shield licensees control the rules and regulations that all members of BCBSA must obey. According to a brief BCBSA filed during litigation in the Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals, these rules and regulations include the Blue Cross License Agreement and the Blue Shield License Agreement (collectively, the "License Agreements"), the Membership Standards Applicable to Regular Members (the "Membership Standards"), and the Guidelines to Administer Membership Standards (the "Guidelines").

66. The License Agreements state that they “may be amended only by the affirmative vote of three-fourths of the Plans and three-fourths of the total then current weighted vote of all the Plans.” In a brief it filed during litigation in the Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals, BCBSA described the provisions of the License Agreements as something the member plans “deliberately chose,” “agreed to,” and “revised.” The License Agreements explicitly state that the member plans most recently met to adopt amendments, if any, to the licenses on November 18, 2010.

67. Under the terms of the License Agreements a plan “agrees . . . to comply with the Membership Standards.” The Guidelines state that the Membership Standards and the Guidelines “were developed by the [PPFSC] and adopted by the Member Plans in November 1994 and initially became effective as of December 31, 1994;” that the Membership Standards “remain in effect until otherwise amended by the Member Plans;” that revisions to the Membership Standards “may only be made if approved by a three-fourths or greater affirmative Plan and Plan weighted vote;” that “new or revised [G]uidelines shall not become effective . . . unless and until the Board of Directors approves them;” and that “[t]he PPFSC routinely reviews” the Membership Standards and Guidelines “to ensure that . . . all requirements (standards and guidelines) are appropriate, adequate and enforceable.”

68. The independent Blue Cross and Blue Shield licensees police the compliance of all members of BCBSA with the rules and regulations of BCBSA. The Guidelines state that the PPFSC “is responsible for making the initial determination about a Plan’s compliance with the license agreements and membership standards. Based on that determination, PPFSC makes a recommendation to the BCBSA Board of Directors, which may accept, reject, or modify the recommendation.” In addition, the Guidelines state that “BCBSA shall send a triennial membership compliance letter to each [member] Plan’s CEO,” which includes, among other things, “a copy of the Membership Standards and Guidelines, a report of the Plan’s licensure and membership status by Standard, and PPFSC comments or concerns, if any, about the Plan’s compliance with the License Agreements and Membership Standards.” In response, “[t]he Plan CEO or Corporate Secretary must certify to the PPFSC that the triennial membership compliance letter has been distributed to all Plan Board Members.”

69. The independent Blue Cross and Blue Shield licensees control and administer the disciplinary process for members of BCBSA that do not abide by BCBSA’s rules and regulations. The Guidelines describe three responses to a member plan’s failure to comply—“Immediate Termination,” “Mediation and Arbitration,” and “Sanctions”—each of which is administered by the PPFSC and could result in the termination of a member plan’s license.

70. The independent Blue Cross and Blue Shield licensees control the termination of existing members from BCBSA. The Guidelines state that based on the PPFSC's "initial determination about a Plan's compliance with the license agreements and membership standards. . . . PPFSC makes a recommendation to the BCBSA Board of Directors, which may accept, reject, or modify the recommendation." However, according to the Guidelines, "a Plan's licenses and membership [in BCBSA] may only be terminated on a three-fourths or greater affirmative Plan and Plan weighted vote." In a brief filed during litigation in the Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals, BCBSA admitted that the procedure for terminating a license agreement between BCBSA and a member plan includes a "double three-quarters vote" of the member plans of the BCBSA: "In a double three-quarters vote, each plan votes twice – first with each Plan's vote counting equally, and then with the votes weighted primarily according to the number of subscribers."

Horizontal Agreements

71. The independent Blue Cross and Blue Shield licensees are potential competitors that use their control of BCBSA to coordinate their activities. As a result, the rules and regulations imposed "by" the BCBSA on the member plans are in truth imposed by the member plans on themselves.

72. Each BCBSA licensee is an independent legal organization. In a pleading BCBSA filed during litigation in the Southern District of Florida, BCBSA admitted that “[t]he formation of BCBSA did not change each plan’s fundamental independence.” In fact, the License Agreements state that “[n]othing herein contained shall be construed to constitute the parties hereto as partners or joint venturers, or either as the agent of the other.”

73. The independent Blue Cross and Blue Shield licensees include many of the largest health insurance companies in the United States. The largest health insurance company in the nation by some measures is WellPoint, a BCBSA licensee. Similarly, fifteen of the twenty-five largest health insurance companies in the country are BCBSA licensees. On its website, BCBSA asserts that its members together provide “coverage for more than 98 million individuals – one-in-three Americans” and “contract with more hospitals and physicians than any other insurer.” Absent the restrictions that the independent Blue Cross and Blue Shield licensees have chosen to impose on themselves, discussed below, these companies would compete against each other in the market for commercial health insurance.

74. In a brief it filed during litigation in the Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals, BCBSA admitted that the Member Plans formed the precursor to BCBSA when they “recognized the necessity of national coordination.” The authors of The Blues: A History of the Blue Cross and Blue Shield System describe the desperation of the Blue Cross and Blue Shield licensees before they agreed to impose restrictions on themselves:

The subsidiaries kept running into each other—and each other’s parent Blue Plans—in the marketplace. Inter-Plan competition had been a fact of life from the earliest days, but a new set of conditions faced the Plans in the 1980s, now in a mature and saturated market. New forms of competition were springing up at every turn, and market share was slipping year by year. Survival was at stake. The stronger business pressure became, the stronger the temptation was to breach the service area boundaries for which the Plans were licensed

On its website, BCBSA admits that “[w]hen the individual Blue companies’ priorities, business objectives and corporate culture conflict, it is our job to help them develop a united vision and strategy” and that it “[e]stablishes a common direction and cooperation between [BCBSA] and the 39 [now 38] Blue companies.” As BCBSA’s general counsel, Roger G. Wilson, explained to the Insurance Commissioner of Pennsylvania, “BCBSA’s 39 [now 38] independent licensed companies compete as a cooperative federation against non-Blue insurance companies.” One BCBSA member plan admitted in its February 17, 2011 Form 10-K that “[e]ach of the [38] BCBS companies . . . works cooperatively in a number of ways that create significant market advantages”

75. As the foregoing demonstrates, BCBSA is a vehicle used by independent health insurance companies to enter into agreements that restrain competition. Because BCBSA is owned and controlled by its member plans, any agreement between BCBSA and one of its member plans constitutes a horizontal agreement between and among the member plans themselves.

The Horizontal Agreements Not To Compete In The Licensing Arrangements Between BCBSA And Its Member Plans, Including AR-BCBS, Are Per Se Violations Of The Sherman Act

76. The rules and regulations of BCBSA, including, but not limited to, the License Agreements, the Membership Standards, and the Guidelines, constitute horizontal agreements between competitors, the independent Blue Cross and Blue Shield licensees, to divide the geographic market for health insurance. As such, they are a per se violation of Section 1 of the Sherman Act.

77. Through the License Agreements, which the independent Blue Cross and Blue Shield licensees created, control, and enforce, each independent Blue Cross and Blue Shield licensee agrees that neither it nor its subsidiaries will compete under the licensed Blue Cross and Blue Shield trademarks and trade names outside of a designated “Service Area.” The License Agreement defines each licensee’s Service Area as “the geographical area(s) served by the Plan on June 10, 1972, and/or as to which the Plan has been granted a subsequent license.”

78. Through the Guidelines and Membership Standards, which the independent Blue Cross and Blue Shield licensees created, control, and enforce, and with which each licensee must agree to comply as part of the License Agreements, each independent Blue Cross and Blue Shield licensee agrees that at least 80 percent of the annual revenue that it or its subsidiaries generate from within its designated Service Area (excluding Medicare and Medicaid) shall be derived from services offered under the licensed Blue Cross and Blue Shield trademarks and trade names. This provision directly limits the ability of each Blue plan to generate revenue from non-Blue branded business. This provision also thereby limits the ability of each plan to develop non-Blue brands that could and would compete with Blue plans. It further discourages and disincentivizes each plan from developing any non-Blue branded businesses.

79. Through the Guidelines and Membership Standards, each independent Blue Cross and Blue Shield licensee further agrees that at least two-thirds of the annual revenue generated by it or its subsidiaries from either inside or outside of its designated Service Area (excluding Medicare and Medicaid) shall be attributable to services offered under the Blue Cross and Blue Shield trademarks and trade names. The Guidelines provide that national enrollment can be substituted for annual revenue, making the alternative restriction that a plan will derive no less than 66-2/3 percent of its national enrollment from its Blue-brand business. This provision directly limits the ability of each Blue plan to generate revenue from non-Blue branded business, and thereby limits the ability of each plan to develop non-Blue brands that could and would compete with Blue plans. It further discourages and disincentivizes each plan from developing any non-Blue branded businesses.

80. The one-third cap on non-Blue revenue provides a licensee with minimal, if any, incentive to compete outside its Service Area. To do so, the licensee would have to buy, rent, or build a provider network under a non-Blue brand, while ensuring that revenue derived from that brand did not exceed the one-third cap. Should the licensee offer services and products under the non-Blue brand within its Service Area (which is likely, since that is its base of operations), that would further reduce the amount of non-Blue revenue it is permitted to earn from outside its designated area. Thus, the potential upside of making an investment in developing business outside of a designated area is severely limited, which obviously creates a disincentive from ever making that investment.

81. In sum, each independent Blue Cross and Blue Shield licensee has agreed with its potential competitors that in exchange for having the exclusive right to use the Blue brand within a designated geographic area, it will derive none of its revenue from services offered under the Blue brand outside of that area, and will derive at most one-third of its revenue from outside of its exclusive area, using services offered under a non-Blue brand. The latter amount will be further reduced if the licensee derives any of its revenue within its designated geographic area from services offered under a non-Blue brand.

82. The foregoing restrictions on the ability of Blue plans to generate revenue outside of their service areas constitute agreements between competitors to divide and allocate geographic markets, and therefore are per se violations of Section 1 of the Sherman Act.

83. More than one Blue Cross and Blue Shield licensee has publicly admitted the existence of these territorial market divisions. For example, the former Blue Cross licensee in Ohio alleged that BCBSA member plans agreed to include these restrictions in the Guidelines in 1996 in an effort to block the sale of one member plan to a non-member that might present increased competition to another member plan.

84. The largest Blue licensee, WellPoint, is a publicly-traded company, and therefore is required by the SEC rules to describe the restrictions on its ability to do business. Thus, in its Form 10-K filed February 17, 2011, WellPoint stated that it had “no right to market products and services using the BCBS names and marks outside of the states in which we are licensed to sell BCBS products,” and that “[t]he license agreements with the BCBSA contain certain requirements and restrictions regarding our operations and our use of the BCBS names and marks, including . . . a requirement that at least 80% . . . of a licensee’s annual combined net revenue attributable to health benefit plans within its service area must be sold, marketed, administered or underwritten under the BCBS names and marks” and “a requirement that at least 66 2/3% of a licensee's annual combined national revenue attributable to health benefit plans must be sold, marketed, administered or underwritten under the BCBS names and marks."

85. Likewise, in its Form 10-K filed March 9, 2011, Triple-S Salud, the Blue licensee for Puerto Rico, explained that "[p]ursuant to our license agreements with BCBSA, at least 80% of the revenue that we earn from health care plans and related services in [its Service Area] and at least 66.7% of the revenue that we earn from (or at least 66.7% of the enrollment for) health care plans and related services both in [and outside its Service Area], must be sold, marketed, administered, or underwritten through use of the Blue Cross Blue Shield name and mark." Further, the Triple-S licensee stated that the territorial restrictions "may limit the extent to which we will be able to expand our health care operations, whether through acquisitions of existing managed care providers or otherwise, in areas where a holder of an exclusive right to the Blue Cross Blue Shield name and mark is already present."

86. Despite these public admissions, both BCBSA and its member plans have attempted to keep the territorial restrictions as secret as possible. When asked by the Insurance Commissioner of Pennsylvania to "[p]lease describe any formal or informal limitations that BSBSA [sic] places on competition among holders of the [Blue] mark as to their use of subsidiaries that do not use the mark," BCBSA's general counsel responded that “BCBSA licensed companies may compete anywhere with non-Blue branded business The rules on what the plans do in this regard are contained in the license. However, the license terms themselves are proprietary to BCBSA, and . . . we would prefer not to share such trade secrets with BCBSA’s competitors.”

87. The member plans of BCBSA have agreed to impose harsh penalties on those that violate the territorial restrictions. According to the Guidelines, a licensee that violates one of the territorial restrictions could face “[l]icense and membership termination.” If a member plan’s license and membership are terminated, it loses the use of the Blue brands, which BCBSA admits on its website are “the most recognized in the health care industry.” In addition, in the event of termination, a plan must pay a fee to BCBSA. According to WellPoint’s February 17, 2011 Form 10-K filing, that “Re-establishment Fee,” which was $98.33 per enrollee as of December 31, 2010, “would allow the BCBSA to ‘re-establish’ a Blue Cross and/or Blue Shield presence in the vacated service area.”

88. In sum, a terminated licensee would (1) lose the brand through which it derived the majority of its revenue; and (2) fund the establishment of a competing health insurer that would replace it as the Blue licensee in its local area. These penalties essentially threaten to put out of existence any Blue member plan that breaches the territorial restrictions.

89. It is unsurprising, then, that most member plans do not operate outside of their Service Areas. Thus, while there are numerous Blue plans and non-Blue businesses owned by such plans that could and would compete effectively in Arkansas but for the territorial restrictions, at present there are no Blue plans other than AR-BCBS, and no non-Blue affiliates of any Blue plans, competing in the commercial health insurance market in Arkansas. The territorial restrictions have therefore barred all competition by all of the Blue plans (other than AR-BCBS) and all of their non-Blue branded business lines from the Arkansas commercial health insurance market.

90. Even in the relatively rare instance, in other states, in which Blue plans conduct operations outside of their Service Areas, they have been required to keep those operations tightly under control by preventing growth – exactly the opposite of how they would normally operate. The relationship between WellPoint and its non-Blue subsidiary, UniCare, is an illustrative example. WellPoint reported in its Form 10-K for the year ending December 31, 1999 that approximately 70 percent of its total medical membership was sold by its Blue-licensed subsidiary, Blue Cross of California. In its Form 10-K for the year ending December 31, 2000, this percentage decreased to approximately 67 percent. In its Form 10-K for the year ending December 31, 2001, after WellPoint had acquired the BCBSA member plans operating in Georgia and part of Missouri, it reported that approximately 78 percent of its total medical membership was in its Blue-licensed subsidiaries. By the time WellPoint filed its 10-K for the year ending December 31, 2005, it had acquired the Blue licensees in fourteen states. For the first time, it admitted the existence of the territorial restrictions in the BCBSA licenses and stated that it was in compliance with them. This may explain why, from 1999 to 2002, while other Texas health insurers experienced average revenue growth of 17 percent, UniCare experienced growth of only 1.4 percent in Texas. During those same years, UniCare experienced virtually no growth in the state of Washington, while overall health insurance revenue in the state grew by 17 percent. Similarly, in New Jersey from 2000 to 2002, the number of out-of-Service-Area enrollees of WellChoice (now part of WellPoint and known as Empire BlueCross BlueShield) did not increase, despite an overall 25 percent growth rate for health insurers in the state during the same period. In Mississippi, between 2001 and 2002, premium revenue earned by most health insurance companies increased by more than 10 percent, but revenue for the non-Blue business of out-of-state Blue plans was either flat (in the case of UniCare) or negative (in the case of Anthem, now part of WellPoint).

91. In another example, one Pennsylvania Blue plan, Independence Blue Cross, has 2.4 million Blue-brand commercial health insurance enrollees in its service area of Southeastern Pennsylvania, and has close to 1 million non-Blue brand Medicare and Medicaid enrollees (to which the territorial restrictions do not apply) in Indiana, Kentucky, Pennsylvania, and South Carolina, but its non-Blue brand commercial health insurance subsidiary, AmeriHealth, which operates in New Jersey and Delaware, has an enrollment of only approximately 130,000, or 4 percent of Independence Blue Cross's total commercial health insurance enrollment.

92. Thus, the territorial restrictions agreed to by all BCBSA members operate to restrain competition by preventing member plans from competing with each other and with non-Blue plans. These prohibitions on competition apply no matter how favorable the efficiencies and economies of scale that might result from expansion of a Blue into a new area, and no matter how much premiums and other costs might be reduced if competition were permitted.

The Anticompetitive Acquisition Restrictions
In The BCBSA Licensing Agreements

93. In addition to the per se illegal territorial restrictions summarized above, the rules and regulations of BCBSA, which AR-BCBS and the other independent Blue Cross and Blue Shield licensees created, control, and agree to obey, also include provisions that restrict the ability of non-members of BCBSA to acquire or obtain control over any member plan.

94. First, the Guidelines state that “[n]either a [Member] Plan nor any Larger Controlled Affiliate shall cause or permit an entity other than a [Member] Plan or a Licensed Controlled Affiliate thereof to obtain control of the [Member] Plan or Larger Controlled Affiliate or to acquire a substantial portion of its assets related to licensable services.” Should a non-member wish to obtain such control or assets, it “is invited to apply to become a licensee.” However, as alleged above, the member plans control the entry of new members into BCBSA. Should a non-member attempt to join BCBSA in order to obtain control of, or to acquire a substantial portion of, the assets of a member plan, the other member plans could block its membership by majority vote.

95. Second, the License Agreements contain a number of acquisition restrictions applicable to for-profit Blue Cross and Blue Shield licensees (i.e., to those licensees who would otherwise be capable of having their shares acquired). These include four situations in which a member plan’s license will terminate automatically: (1) if any institutional investor becomes beneficially entitled to 10 percent or more of the voting power of the member plan; (2) if any non-institutional investor become beneficially entitled to 5 percent or more of the voting power of the member plan; (3) if any person become beneficially entitled to 20 percent or more of the member plan’s then-outstanding common stock or equity securities; or (4) if the member plan conveys, assigns, transfers, or sells substantially all of its assets to any person, or consolidates or merges with or into any person, other than a merger in which the member plan is the surviving entity and in which, immediately after the merger, no institutional investor is beneficially entitled to 10 percent or more of the voting power, no non-institutional investor is beneficially entitled to 5 percent or more of the voting power, and no person is beneficially entitled to 20 percent or more of the then-outstanding common stock or equity securities. These restrictions apply unless modified or waived in particular circumstances upon the affirmative vote both of a majority of the disinterested member plans and also of a majority weighted vote of the disinterested member plans. These restraints effectively preclude the sale of a BCBSA member to a non-member entity, absent special approval.

96. These acquisition restraints reduce competition in violation of the Sherman Act because they substantially reduce the ability of non-member insurance companies to expand their business. In order to expand into a new geographic area, a non-member insurance company faces the choice of whether to build its own network in that area, or to acquire a network by buying some or all of an existing plan doing business in that area. Through the acquisition restrictions, the Blue plans have conspired to force competitors to build their own networks, and have effectively prohibited those competitors from ever choosing what may often be the more efficient solution of acquiring new networks by purchasing some or all of an existing Blue plan. Blue provider networks may often be the most cost-effective due to historical tax breaks, favorable legislation, and long-term presence in a region. By preventing non-Blue entities from acquiring Blue entities and their networks, the acquisition restrictions in the BCBSA licenses effectively force competitors to adopt less efficient methods of expanding their networks, thereby reducing and in some instances eliminating competition.

97. Since the 1996 adoption of the acquisition restrictions, the only acquisitions of Blue Cross or Blue Shield licensees have been acquisitions by other member plans. During the period from 1996 to the present, there has been a wave of consolidation among the Blue plans: in 1996, there were 62 Blue licensees; at present, there are only 38.

98. By agreeing to restrict the pool of potential purchasers of a Blue licensee to other Blue licensees, the member plans of BCBSA raise the costs their rivals must incur to expand their networks and areas of practice, reduce efficiency, and protect themselves and each other from competition. The net effect is less competition and higher premium costs for consumers, including enrollees of AR-BCBS.

The BCBSA Licensing Agreements
Have Reduced Competition In Arkansas

99. AR-BCBS, as a licensee, member, and part of the governing body of BCBSA, has conspired with the other member plans of BCBSA to create, approve, abide by, and enforce the rules and regulations of BCBSA, including the per se illegal territorial restrictions in the License Agreements and Guidelines. Many of the member plans with which AR-BCBS has conspired would otherwise be significant competitors of AR-BCBS in Arkansas.

100. For example, WellPoint is the largest health insurer in the country by total medical enrollment, with approximately 34 million enrollees. It is the Blue Cross and Blue Shield licensee for Georgia, Kentucky, and portions of Virginia, as well as for California (Blue Cross only), Colorado, Connecticut, Indiana, Maine, Missouri (excluding 30 counties in the Kansas City area), Nevada, New Hampshire, New York (as Blue Cross Blue Shield in 10 New York City metropolitan and surrounding counties, and as Blue Cross or Blue Cross Blue Shield in selected upstate counties only), Ohio, and Wisconsin, and also serves customers throughout the country through its non-Blue brand subsidiary, UniCare. But for the illegal territorial restrictions summarized above, WellPoint would be likely to offer its health insurance services and products in Arkansas in competition with AR-BCBS. Such competition would result in lower health care costs and premiums paid by AR-BCBS enrollees.

101. Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Florida is the eighteenth largest health insurer in the country by total medical enrollment, with approximately 2.9 million enrollees. Its Service Area is the state of Florida. But for the illegal territorial restrictions summarized above, Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Florida would be likely to offer its health insurance services and products in Arkansas in competition with AR-BCBS. Such competition would result in lower health care costs and premiums paid by AR-BCBS enrollees.

102. Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Tennessee is the twenty-second largest health insurer in the country by total medical enrollment, with approximately 2.5 million enrollees. Its Service Area is the state of Tennessee. But for the illegal territorial restrictions summarized above, Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Tennessee would be likely to offer its health insurance services and products in Arkansas in competition with AR-BCBS. Such competition would result in lower health care costs and premiums paid by AR-BCBS enrollees.

103. Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Louisiana is the thirty-fifth largest health insurer in the country by total medical enrollment, with approximately 1.1 million enrollees. Its Service Area is the state of Louisiana. But for the illegal territorial restrictions summarized above, Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Louisiana would be likely to offer its health insurance services and products in Arkansas in competition with AR-BCBS. Such competition would result in lower health care costs and premiums paid by AR-BCBS enrollees.

104. In addition to the foregoing examples, there are dozens of other Blue plans that would and could compete in Arkansas but for the illegal territorial restrictions. As alleged above, fifteen of the twenty-five largest health insurance companies in the country are Blue plans: if all of these plans, together with all other BCBSA members, were able to compete in Arkansas, the result would be lower costs and thus lower premiums paid by AR-BCBS enrollees.

AR-BCBS Market Power In Relevant Arkansas Markets

105. AR-BCBS has market power in the sale of full-service commercial health insurance to individuals and small groups in relevant geographic markets throughout the state of Arkansas.

Relevant Product Market:

106. The relevant product market is the sale of full-service commercial health insurance products to individuals and small groups.

107. To properly define a health insurance product market, it is useful to consider the range of health insurance products for sale and the degree to which these products substitute for one another, i.e., whether, in a competitive market, an increase in the price of one product would increase demand for the second product.

The characteristics of different products are important factors in determining their substitutability. For a health insurance product, important characteristics include:

108. Commercial versus government health insurance: Unlike commercial health insurance products, government health insurance programs such as Medicare and Medicaid and privately operated government health insurance programs such as Medicare Advantage are available only to individuals who are disabled, elderly, or indigent. Therefore, commercial health insurance and government health insurance programs are not substitutes.

109. Full-service versus single-service health insurance: Full-service health insurance provides coverage for a wide range of medical and surgical services provided by hospitals, physicians, and other health care providers. In contrast, single-service health insurance provides narrow coverage restricted to a specific type of health care, e.g., dental care. Single-service health insurance is sold as a compliment to full-service health insurance when the latter excludes from coverage a specific type of health care, e.g., dental care. Thus, full-service health insurance and single-service health insurance are not substitutes.

110. Full-service commercial health insurance includes HMO products and PPO products, among others. Traditionally, HMO health insurance plans pay benefits only when enrollees use in-network providers; PPO health insurance plans pay a higher percentage of costs when enrollees use in-network providers and a lower percentage of costs when enrollees use out-of-network providers. Both types of full-service commercial health insurers compete for consumers based on the price of the premiums they charge, the quality and breadth of their health care provider networks, the benefits they do or do not provide (including enrollees' out-of-pocket costs such as deductibles, co-payment, and coinsurance), customer service, and reputation, among other factors. Economic research suggests that HMO and PPO health insurance products are substitutes.

111. Fully-insured health insurance versus ASO products: When a consumer purchases a fully-insured health insurance product, the entity from which the consumer purchases that product provides a number of services: it pays its enrollees' medical costs, bears the risk that its enrollees' health care claims will exceed its anticipated losses, controls benefit structure and coverage decisions, and provides "administrative services" to its enrollees, e.g., processes medical bills and negotiates discounted prices with providers. In contrast, when a consumer purchases an administrative services only ("ASO") product, sometimes known as "no risk," the entity from which the consumer purchases that product provides administrative services only. Therefore, fully-insured health insurance products and ASO products are only substitutes for those consumers able to self-insure, i.e., able to pay their own medical costs and bear the risk that claims will exceed their anticipated losses.

112. Individual, small group, and large group consumers: Consumers of health insurance products include both individuals and groups, such as employers who select a plan to offer to their employees and typically pay a portion of their employees' premiums. Group consumers are broken down into two categories, small group and large group, based on the number of persons in the group. The Kaiser Family Foundation, which publishes an influential yearly survey of employer health benefits offered across the United States, defines small firms as those with 3-199 employees and large firms as those with 200 or more employees.

113. For the purposes of market division, it is appropriate to consider the individual and small group health insurance product market as distinct from the large group health insurance product market. In the former, consumers are largely unable to self-insure and competition is therefore restricted to plans that offer fully-insured health insurance products; in the latter, consumers are able to self-insure and the bulk of competition occurs between firms offering ASO products. Across the United States, 84 percent of small group consumers do not self-insure, while 83 percent of large group consumers do self-insure. Even apart from the prevalence of ASO products in each market, individual, small group, and large group product markets are distinct because health insurers can set different prices for these different consumers. Thus, pricing in the large group market would not impact competition in the small group market, and vice versa.

114. Data on enrollment in full-service commercial health insurance:

There is a dearth of reliable data on the market share of insurers selling full-service commercial health insurance products to individual and small group consumers in Arkansas. The only publicly available data Plaintiff has found on the Arkansas market share of fully-insured, full-service commercial health insurers is from an American Medical Association study. This data, which is restricted to enrollment in HMO and PPO products only, does not distinguish between individual, small group, and large group consumers; however, because the vast majority of ASO consumers are large groups rather than individuals or small groups, and because the vast majority of large group consumers purchase ASO products rather than fully-insured health insurance products, this data is a fair approximation of Arkansas individual and small group enrollment in full-service commercial health insurance products.

115. Furthermore, using this data to determine AR-BCBS's share of the relevant product market would only overstate AR-BCBS's market share if AR-BCBS had a disproportionately large share of the large group market. This is unlikely. The other major sellers of full-service commercial health insurance in Arkansas are large national insurers, which target consumers that are large national employers and would be large group consumers in Arkansas.

116. Thus, unless otherwise noted, Plaintiff relies on the aforementioned enrollment data to calculate AR-BCBS's share of the relevant product market.

Relevant Geographic Markets:

117. In defining a geographic market, it is important to focus on an essential part of a full-service commercial health insurer's product: its provider network. An insurer's provider network is composed of the health care providers with which it contracts. Enrollees in both HMO and PPO full-service commercial health insurance products pay less for an "in-network" provider's health care services than they would for the same services from an "out of network" provider. As a result, health insurance consumers pay special attention to an insurer's provider network when choosing a health insurance product, preferring insurers with networks that include local providers. This suggests that health insurers compete in distinct geographic markets.

118. There are a number of different ways to analyze the geographic markets for the sale of full-service commercial health insurance to individual and small group consumers in Arkansas. The potentially relevant geographic markets could be defined alternatively as (a) the state of Arkansas, AR-BCBS's service area; and (b) the 49 regions, known as "Metropolitan Statistical Areas," "Micropolitan Statistical Areas," and counties, into which the U.S. Office of Management and Budget divides Arkansas. However the geographic market is defined, the result is the same: AR-BCBS has the dominant market position, and exercises market power controlling 75% of the market in Arkansas.

119. AR-BCBS does business throughout the state of Arkansas, in all 75 counties, is licensed to use the Blue Cross and Blue Shield trademarks and trade names throughout the state of Arkansas, and has agreed with the other member plans of BCBSA that only AR-BCBS will do business in Arkansas under the Blue brand. Therefore, the state of Arkansas can be analyzed as a relevant geographic market within which to assess the effects of AR-BCBS's anticompetitive conduct. In 2009, AR-BCBS held 75% percent of the market share of the relevant Arkansas product market.

120. The U.S. Office of Management and Budget divides the 75 counties of Arkansas into Metropolitan Statistical Areas and Micropolitan Statistical Areas according to published standards applied to U.S. Census Bureau data. It states that "[t]he general concept of a metropolitan or micropolitan statistical area is that of a core area containing a substantial population nucleus, together with adjacent communities having a high degree of economic and social integration with that core." Currently, there is no publicly available data that would enable Plaintiff to calculate AR-BCBS's share of the relevant product market in each of these relevant geographic markets. However, AR-BCBS is able to provide this information.

121. AR-BCBS's powerful market share is far from the only evidence of its market power. As alleged below, AR-BCBS's market power has significantly raised costs, resulting in skyrocketing premiums for AR-BCBS enrollees.

Inflated Premiums Charged By AR-BCBS

122. AR-BCBS's illegal anticompetitive conduct, including its territorial market division agreements with the thirty-eight other members of BCBSA, has increased health care costs in Arkansas, leading to artificially inflated and supra-competitive premiums for individuals and small groups purchasing AR-BCBS's full-service commercial health insurance in the relevant geographic markets. AR-BCBS's market power and its use of anticompetitive practices in Arkansas have reduced the amount of competition in the market and ensured that AR-BCBS's few competitors face higher costs than AR-BCBS does. Without competition, and with the ability to increase premiums without losing customers, AR-BCBS faces little pressure to keep costs low.

123. Over the past decade, AR-BCBS generally raised individual and small group premiums by amounts greater than the national average.

124. These rising premiums have enabled AR-BCBS to lavishly compensate its executives and grow its surplus in excessive amounts.

VIOLATIONS ALLEGED

Count One

(Contract, Combination, or Conspiracy in Restraint of Trade in Violation of Sherman Act, Section 1)

125. Plaintiff repeats and realleges the allegations in Paragraphs 1 through 124.

126. The License Agreements, Membership Standards, and Guidelines agreed to by AR-BCBS and BCBSA represent horizontal agreements entered into between AR-BCBS and the thirty-eight other member plans of BCBSA, all of whom are competitors or potential competitors in the market for commercial health insurance.

127. Each of the License Agreements, Membership Standards, and Guidelines entered into between BCBSA and AR-BCBS represents a contract, combination and conspiracy within the meaning of Section 1 of the Sherman Act.

128. Through the License Agreements, Membership Standards, and Guidelines, BCBSA and AR-BCBS have agreed to divide and allocate the geographic markets for the sale of commercial health insurance into a series of exclusive areas for each of the thirty-eight BCBSA members. By so doing, the BCBSA members (including AR-BCBS) have conspired to restrain trade in violation of Section 1 of the Sherman Act. These market allocation agreements are per se illegal under Section 1 of the Sherman Act.

129. The market allocation agreements entered into between AR-BCBS and the thirty-eight other BCBSA member plans (executed through the BCBSA License Agreements and related Membership Standards and Guidelines) are anticompetitive.

130. AR-BCBS has market power in the sale of full-service commercial health insurance to individuals and small groups in each relevant geographic and product market alleged herein.

131. Each of the challenged agreements has had substantial and unreasonable anticompetitive effects in the relevant markets, including but not limited to:

- a. Reducing the number of health insurance companies competing with AR-BCBS throughout Arkansas;
- b. Unreasonably limiting the entry of competitor health insurance companies into Arkansas;
- c. Allowing AR-BCBS to maintain and enlarge its market power throughout Arkansas;
- d. Allowing AR-BCBS to raise the premiums charged to consumers by artificially inflated, unreasonable, and supra-competitive amounts;

e. Depriving consumers of health insurance of the benefits of free and open competition.

132. The procompetitive benefits, if any, of the market allocation agreements alleged above do not outweigh the anticompetitive effects of those agreements.

133. The market allocation agreements in the License Agreements, Membership Standards, and Guidelines unreasonably restrain trade in violation of Section 1 of the Sherman Act.

134. As a direct and proximate result of AR-BCBS's continuing violations of Section 1 of the Sherman Act, Plaintiff and other members of the Arkansas Class have suffered injury and damages in an amount to be proven at trial. These damages consist of having paid higher health insurance premiums to AR-BCBS than they would have paid with increased competition and but for the Sherman Act violations.

135. Plaintiff and the Arkansas Class seek money damages from AR-BCBS and BCBSA for their violations of Section 1 of the Sherman Act.

Count Two

(Willful Acquisition and Maintenance of a Monopoly in the Relevant Market for Private Health Insurance in Violation of Sherman Act, Section 2)

136. Plaintiff repeats and realleges the allegations in Paragraphs 1 through 135.

137. AR-BCBS has monopoly power in the individual and small group full-service commercial health insurance market in Arkansas. This monopoly power is evidenced by, among other things, AR-BCBS's high market share of the commercial health insurance market, including its increasing market share even as it has raised premiums.

138. AR-BCBS has abused and continues to abuse its monopoly power in order to maintain and enhance its market dominance by unreasonably restraining trade, thus artificially inflating the premiums it charges to consumers.

139. AR-BCBS's conduct constitutes unlawful monopolization and unlawful anti-competitive conduct in the relevant markets in violation of Section 2 of the Sherman Act, and such violation and the effects thereof are continuing and will continue unless injunctive relief is granted.

140. As a direct and proximate result of AR-BCBS's continuing violations of Section 2 of the Sherman Act, Plaintiff and other members of the Arkansas Class have suffered injury and damages in an amount to be proven at trial. These damages consist of having paid higher health insurance premiums to AR-BCBS than they would have paid but for the Sherman Act violations.

141. Plaintiff and the Arkansas Class seek money damages from AR-BCBS for its violations of Section 2 of the Sherman Act.

Count Three

(Willful Attempted Monopolization in the Relevant Market for Private Health Insurance in Violation of Sherman Act, Section 2)

142. Plaintiff repeats and realleges the allegations in Paragraphs 1 through 141.

143. AR-BCBS has acted with the specific intent to monopolize the relevant markets.

144. There was and is a dangerous possibility that AR-BCBS will succeed in its attempt to monopolize the relevant markets because AR-BCBS controls a large percentage of those markets already, and further success by AR-BCBS in excluding competitors from those markets will confer a monopoly on AR-BCBS in violation of Section 2 of the Sherman Act.

145. AR-BCBS's attempted monopolization of the relevant markets has harmed competition in those markets and has caused injury to Plaintiff and the Arkansas Class. Premiums charged by AR-BCBS have been higher than they would have been in a competitive market.

146. Plaintiff and the Arkansas Class have been damaged as the result of AR-BCBS's attempted monopolization of the relevant markets.

RELIEF REQUESTED

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff requests that this Court:

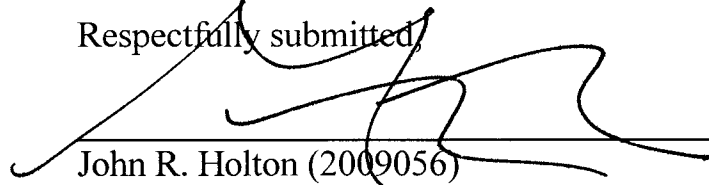

- a. Determine that this action may be maintained as a class action under Fed. R. Civ. P. 23;
- b. Adjudge and decree that AR-BCBS has violated both Section 1 and Section 2 of the Sherman Act;
- c. Award Plaintiff and the Arkansas Class damages in the form of three times the amount by which premiums charged by AR-BCBS have been artificially inflated above their competitive levels during the Class Period;
- d. Award costs and attorneys' fees to Plaintiff;
- e. Award $76,000.00 per class member and any such other and further amount and relief as may be just and proper.

JURY DEMAND

Plaintiff demands a trial by jury.

This the 15 day of March, 2013
